Stewardess Foils Hijacking By Slamming Cockpit Door

MIAMI (AP)—An attempted hijacking of a Delta Airlines jet en route to Miami from Detroit was foiled early today when a stewardess disregarded a passenger's shotgun and slammed the cabin door in his face, police said.

The attempt came hours after the victims of two weekend hijackings had returned from Cuba.

The Dade County sheriff's department said local and federal officers arrested Kenneth Earl McPeck, 31, of Orchard Lake, Mich., when the plane landed at Miami International Airport. His 3-year-old son was taken into protective custody.

Officers said they went to the airport after the plane's captain radioed the Miami airport that he had a man board with a shotgun.

The sheriff's department said McPeck told them he carried the shotgun aboard the plane in a duffel bag. The weapon was found under his seat, unasmsembled and again in the bag, the officers said.

Stewardess Lynne Sargeant of Miami Springs, Fla., told authorities she was accosted by a passenger who placed a shotgun in the pit of her stomach. The passenger told her to tell the captain he was going to Havana.

Instead, police said, Miss Sargeant slammed the door of the cockpit and locked it. The would-be hijacker apparently gave up the idea of a forced flight to Havana at that point, officers said.

Three times Sunday, airplanes swooped into Miami with victims of Saturday's two airline hijackings. The returning planes carried a band of laughing students, people bleary-eyed from loss of sleep and an airliner crew whose captor insisted on a radio message to "tell Fidel Red is coming."

A Convair jet of the Peruvian national airline—APSA—was 10 minutes out of Miami when a gun-brandishing man took over.

A dozen hours after the Peruvian plane landed in Cuba a man with close-cropped red hair boarded a United Air Lines jet at Jacksonville, Fla. Shortly after it roared off toward Miami, he suggested he would like to go to Havana. A stewardess shrugged off the idea.

"I thought it was a joke," Pat Overcast of Miami Springs, Fla., related later. "A lot of passengers say that."

The man drew a revolver from a briefcase to enforce his request.

"We're on our way," Capt. M. D. Guyot of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the pilot, said.

Commissioners Renew Efforts For Airport

Pickaway County Commissioners today renewed an effort to get state funds to build an airport.

Dick Tootle, the newest member of the board of commissioners proposed a resolution creating a county airport authority be prepared by Roy Huffer, prosecuting attorney.

Wayne Hines and Charles Morris both concurred with Tootle's proposal, which was placed in the form of a motion.

Last summer commissioners relinquished their prerogative to seek the state funds to the city of Circleville. Their action at that time came at the request of Mayor Richard Gerhardt and the Circleville Jaycees.

CITY Council chose not to take any action toward seeking the state funds to build the airport. Commissioners today received a letter from Mayor Gerhardt and Council President Joe Bell stating that council had no plans to pursue the project. Commissioners at one time initiated plans to build a landing strip on county owned land in Washington Twp. They had an option to buy additional land needed from Sterley and Forrest Croman.

Residents of the area objected to the airport construction, and commissioners let the project die.

In other business this morning, commissioners discussed the landfill site problem with Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian.

A letter from the state department of health listing changes needed for a site proposed by William Barthelmas was reviewed.

Commission Chairman Morris noted the changes asked for by the state in the landfill plan were "fairly minor."

Commissioners approved a request for Roger Bowers, county inspector of weights and measures to attend a United States Department of Agriculture meeting at Reynoldsburg.

Man Throws Fire Bomb In Dance Hall

DETROIT (AP)—Police searched today for an arsonist who witnesses said tossed gasoline on a stairway in a crowded Detroit dance hall Sunday because he was angry over being refused admission. Some 60 persons were injured.

"All I saw was a ball of flame go up the steps," said James Moore, 3, one of some 150 persons who were in the second floor "Soul Expressions" hall on the city's West Side. Fire, smoke and panic quickly spread through the crowd.

Police said they had a good description of the fire bomber, who was turned away from the dance hall at about 2 a.m. Sunday because he appeared to be drunk.

About 15 minutes later, police said, the man returned with four friends, tossed gasoline from a can into the entrance way to the second floor and then threw in a match.

Witnesses said the flames roared up the narrow enclosed stairway and a cloud of dense smoke engulfed the dancers.

"It was so smoky, you could only see if you stooped over, Sid William Murray, 21, who was in the crowd.

"About five people tried to kick out the front windows but finally somebody had to throw a chair through," he said.

One girl, he added, simply spread out her arms and jumped 20 feet to the sidewalk. A man with his whole body enveloped in flames rushed out onto the dance floor, where other dancers smothered the fire.

The injured suffered burns and other injuries, and eight persons were still in hospitals Sunday night, one in critical condition.

More State Election Bills Are Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today he is sending two more election bills to the General Assembly.

Brown tossed nine measures at the Legislature on the first day of its 108th session last Monday.

The new bills would revise laws relating to independent candidates, and make a variety of election code changes.

Sen. Robin T. Turner of Marion, chairman of the Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee, will submit the measures.

The measure concerning independent candidates seeks to remedy objections raised by a U.S. District Court last fall when it said the time required for an independent candidate to file before an election was "unduly restrictive."

Brown proposes to shorten the filing time requirements from 90 days before a primary to 90 days before a General Election.

The other bill, an omnibus measure dealing with a variety of election code changes, would —Permit a branch office of elections boards to be opened in the same city where Boards of Elections' principal offices are located. Such offices now are allowed only in other municipalities of a county.

—Permit newly married persons to register a change of name by mail rather than in a personal trip to the elections board.

—Provide that a precinct shall not contain more than one political subdivision or portion thereof or more than one school district or portion thereof.

—Permit boards of elections members and employees to vote an absent voter's ballot.

—Require signers of declarations of candidacy, nominating petitions to write in long hand the date of their signature and location of voting residence;

—Provide for possible future use of Social Security numbers for voter identification.

—Make the use of a solid black line on the back of every paper ballot optional with the county board of elections. This is now mandatory.

Rain, Snow Prevalent Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains fell along the West Coast, heavy snow covered the Northwest and scattered snow and cold gripped the nation from the upper Midwest to the Northeast today.

But across the southern tier of states from Arizona and southern Nevada to the south Atlantic coast dry and milder weather prevailed.

Temperatures rose into the 70s Sunday along most of the Mexican border and in southern Florida. However, far to the north folks continued to shiver in winter's icy grip.

Temperatures around the country early today ranged from 16 below zero at Williston, N.D., to 65 at Key West, Fla.

Up to three inches of new snow fell at both Spokane and Yakima, Wash., Sunday and Portland, Ore., had an additional one inch.

FAREWELL — President Johnson, who spent more than 35 years in Congress, pays a nostalgic farewell visit to the Capitol in Washington and attends a reception given by Democratic leaders. At the left he is greeted by newly-elected Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., and at right by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., newly-chosen Senate majority whip.

LBJ's State Of The Union, Budget Messages Readied

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson starts his final week in office today with some prospect that he might leave to his successor a budget of around $195 billion to operate the government in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In a nationally televised and broadcast appearance before a joint session of Congress Tuesday at 9 p.m. EST, Johnson will report on the state of the union as he views it after more than six years in office.

Although he can point to a record run of prosperity during his tenure, Johnson may feel impelled to warn against the rising wave of inflation that has pushed bank loan interest rates to a record high and is reflected in the soaring cost of living.

At home Johnson can point to his administration's programs to grapple with the problems of the breakdown of law and order, racial rioting, decaying cities, water and air pollution, and poverty.

In the international arena, the President can cite the prospect that the beleaguered Paris talks eventually may lead to an end to the fighting in Vietnam. He can caution the nations that the explosive situation in the Middle East is a potential spark for a general war, but he must defer to the incoming president, Richard M. Nixon, any definitive answer to the Dec. 30 Soviet note proposing U.N. Security Council action to bring about peace.

Johnson is expected to review the nation's achievements in space exploration and to recommend full-scale continuance of that program.

But it is the budget message, which will follow his farewell report, that has been giving the President the most trouble during his final days in the White House.

Both the State of the Union address and the budget message were delayed by Johnson in the hope that he could coax Nixon into taking a public position on extending the 10 per cent income surtax, now scheduled to expire on June 30.

The White House announcement Saturday that Johnson would make his State of the Union address Tuesday was interpreted generally as signalling the failure of efforts to get Nixon to take a stand at this time on the surtax. Although the President-elect said during the campaign that the tax should be wiped out as soon as the Vietnam war ends, Johnson was reported to have hoped that Nixon would want to lose the $13 billion revenue it produces annually.

The President, who wrung approval of the tax from a balky Congress with the argument that it was needed to combat inflation, also is reported to believe that it is still needed as a check on the rising cost of living.

Area Power Outage Caused By Vandalism In Lancaster

Electric power was cut off to most of Pickaway County except Circleville Sunday morning due to the apparent work of vandals near Lancaster.

A manual cutoff switch was thrown at the Delmont Power Station of South Central Power Company near Lancaster about 2:30 a.m. Sunday. The power outage, which affected approximately 12,000 customers in Pickaway, Fairfield, Ross and Hocking Counties, lasted about one hour.

Circleville is serviced by Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Vandals entered the Delmont Station by sawing a lock on the gate to the power unit, according to Fairfield Sheriff Jack Blazer. The vandals then operated only the one switch which cut off power to the six substations servicing the four county area.

THE 69,000 volt transmission line provided power to the Amanda, Laurelville, Logan Elm, Red Bridge, Circleville and Ashville substations.

Perpetrator of the act apparently knew what he was doing, according to Bud Fischer, director of public information for the company in Lancaster.

Fischer stated that an ordinary person would be unaware of the process used in throwing one of the cutoff switches. It would also be possible for a person unfamiliar with a power station and high voltage electric to be injured in the process.

First response to the news of the outage was to check power lines leading from the station, according to Fischer. It was a short time later that the station itself was checked and the manual switch found thrown.

No suspects exist at present, according to the Fairfield County sheriff. The sheriff stated that his first reaction was to expect a planned crime during the power outage, but a check with law enforcement officials in the areas involved indicates no such activities.

Special deputies will be assigned to guard the power stations for the near future, according to the sheriff. A new lock system, to prevent future acts of vandalism to the cutoff switches, is being considered by the company, which expects to install them in area power stations shortly, according to the power company spokesman.

Rhodes Backs Education Proposals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes said today the state can afford the cost of a program to equalize job training and opportunity for all its citizens.

He said he would be pleased to sign legislation that carries out recommendations of his Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education.

That group last week recommended a major reorganization of the state's educational system. It would put emphasis on instruction related to employment.

Rhodes also announced a series of meetings throughout the state to acquaint educational, business and industrial leaders with the task force proposals. "Basically we are opposed to an increase in taxes," he said. "However, we can and do favor additional money that is directly aimed at providing our people with more and better jobs and higher income."

He implied support for task force recommendations of new ways to finance massive changes in the educational system.

"We will accept these concepts of the task force and we will work with the legislature on them," he said.

May Signal New Enemy Offensive

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong blasted their way into the biggest U.S. airfield in the Mekong Delta early today and blew up 15 helicopters worth an estimated $5 million before they were repelled by base defenders.

Another six helicopters were reported damaged in a mortar barrage at the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division 40 miles away. One officer called the attacks an "oozing beginning" of the long-awaited enemy offensive in the 14,250-square mile delta south of Saigon.

The Viet Cong attack on Can Tho, 80 miles south of the capital, was the first major ground probe against an allied airfield in several weeks. It hit the headquarters of the U.S. Army's 16th Aviation Group, the nerve center for military operations in the Mekong Delta in the region's biggest city.

Enemy sappers broke through the airfield's defenses under cover of a heavy mortar, rocket and machine-gun barrage that pinned down the Americans while the Viet Cong attached explosives to the helicopters. A barracks area west of the airfield was attacked simultaneously.

Field reports said five cargo and troop-carrying Chinooks and 10 smaller helicopter gunships were destroyed or damaged. U. S. casualties were

Maneuvers Again Delay Sirhan Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—More legal maneuvers blanketed from public view may delay today's anticipated start of jury selection at the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan murder trial.

Defense attorneys for the young Jordanian accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy planned to huddle with the judge and prosecutors behind closed doors after the trial's second week begins.

Both sides had hoped to begin picking a jury today, but over the weekend Judge Herbert V. Walker indicated it might be delayed until Tuesday.

The three defense attorneys and a legal aide spent the weekend poring over a bulky, four-volume trial transcript, hunting legal support for their contention that the list of prospective jurors was not representative of the community.

Chief defense counsel Grant B. Cooper said the evidence would be presented to the judge in his chambers, but not argued. "We have already made our points," he said.

The secret sessions with the judge slowed the trial's progress during the first three days and appear bound to continue, as Cooper puts it, "because these are things we have to do."

The defense is attacking the California jury-picking process, contending juries are unbalanced because people in certain occupations are exempt.

Red Cross Bloodmobile Due In City Thursday

Pickaway County Chapter of American Red Cross wishes to remind area residents that the next visit of the bloodmobile to Circleville will be 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday at the Community United Methodist Church.

During 1968, the community met 96 per cent of their blood donor quota for the entire year. Therefore, every resident of Pickaway County continues to be eligible to receive Red Cross blood free at virtually all hospitals in the United States.

Unfortunately, the supply of available blood throughout the United States, and especially Central Ohio, has been seriously depleted due to the current flu outbreak. Obviously, being eligible loses its significance when no blood is available. Therefore, it is imperative that the blood supply be replenished at once so that it will be on hand when needed.

Those wishing to donate blood at this visit are urged to call the local Red Cross office at 474-5736 for an appointment, in advance of the visit.

By doing so, congestion and long waiting at the bloodmobile can be avoided and thus the entire operation can be administered more efficiently.

Congressmen Primed To Contest Hickel's Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's Cabinet choices troop to Capitol Hill this week to take their government entrance examinations, and all but Walter J. Hickel can count on friendly questions and high marks.

Hickel, designated secretary of interior in the new Republican administration, is in for searching interrogation by conservationists who fear this man from the last frontier scorns their cherished theories of public land uses as a banana peel on the doorstep of progress.

There's little chance that conservation-minded senators have enough muscle to deny Senate confirmation of Hickel, now governor of Alaska, to his new post. As a rule, senators incline toward the view that a president has a right to pick his own people. But Hickel's opponents have enough questions ready to whip up the biggest controversy over a presidential Cabinet appointee since John F. Kennedy chose brother Robert to be his attorney general eight years ago, and they are determined to do it.

This week will be a busy one for the 91st Congress, still struggling with organizational problems after devoting its first week to such matters as committee assignments and the Senate's biennial battle over the filibuster rule, still an issue after 16 years of debate.

The House has no legislation of consequence up for action, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has said that after Johnson's farewell address the Senate will take up the House-approved bill to double the President's salary to $200,000 a year. The bill must be passed before Monday if Nixon is to benefit—his salary can't be raised while he is in office—and some senators have indicated they will fight the bill on the ground that it sets a poor example while inflation is a major problem. Mansfield, however, has said he expects no difficulty in passing the bill, which also will raise congressional salaries.

Any debate is likely to be short-lived, especially if it comes on Wednesday, the day that Hickel goes before the Senate Interior Committee. Also scheduled that day is a Foreign Relations Committee hearing for Nixon's secretary of state, William P. Rogers, but Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., shattered tradition by ordering a closed-door session. Fulbright said he did it so members can question Rogers about policy matters, and explained, "I'm trying to alter the deadly tradition of going through empty hearings with no meaning."

Woman's Place In Business Not That Of Boss, Girls Say

NEW YORK (AP)—Work for a woman? Never! That's the answer of American girls who were asked by The Associated Press if they agree with British women who responded to a nationwide psychological study by turning thumbs down on the idea of a woman boss.

"I wouldn't be caught dead working for a woman," said Diana Frankland, 30, a Boston brokerage secretary. "They're impossible as bosses."

"Women always seem to have a bone to pick," said another secretary—Joyce Forrester, 33, of Albuquerque. Mrs. Forrester said women are "just too bossy. Men are much more considerate."

The British survey was conducted by the National Institute of Industrial Psychology. The women were asked who they preferred working for and who they thought superior—men or women.

More than 95 per cent of the British women said men make better bosses and nearly one-third admitted they thought men superior in general.

The girls on this side of the ocean agreed, although there were a few who voted for a distant director.

"I prefer a man as boss. They're easier to get along with. A man will tell you what he wants done and let you do it," said Rita Strehl, a Burlingame, Calif., secretary who once worked for a woman.

Asked if she'd like to work for a woman, Joyce Covin, 25, a secretary at Texas Industries Inc. in Dallas, replied, "Oh damn no. I hate women—to work for that. Their demands are not constructive like men's."

"Men can do everything better than women except have children," said a New Orleans schoolteacher, Sandra McDonald, 25.

Jail Rioter Sentenced In County Court

Second of three men indicted for the Nov. 22, county jail riot was arraigned and sentenced in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Monday.

Thomas Willard, Laurelville, entered pleas of guilty to breaking and entering Kerr Service Station and Carryout in Laurelville Nov. 16, and to taking part in the jail riot. Willard had been indicted Dec. 4, by a special session of the September term grand jury for the jail disturbance, the breaking and entering and for attempting to gain entrance to a vending machine. The charges of trying to break into the vending machine were nolleed by Judge William Ammer at the time of the arraignment Monday.

A sentence of 1-15 years was imposed for the breaking and entering, and 1-5 years for the jail rioting. Judge Ammer ordered the two sentences be served concurrently at Mansfield State Reformatory.

Seven Deputies Receive Diplomas

Seven members of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department were awarded diplomas at a special dinner honoring them at Tink's Restaurant Saturday evening.

The deputies had completed 130 hours of basic training in law enforcement technique and an additional course on first aid, according to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Receiving the diplomas were Deputies Richard Clark, Don Thompson, Bob Hoover, Auxiliary Deputies Robert Featheringham, Marvin Widmer, Nelson Embry and Cecil Hatfield Jr.

Presenting the diplomas was Sgt. Kenneth Cappinger of the Chillicothe Police Department.

Talk Freeze Still On In Paris

PARIS (AP)—North Vietnam, calling a new American initiative "unacceptable," left the United States today with little hope of getting the Vietnam peace conference started in the immediate future.

The United States Sunday offered two more proposals on speaking and seating arrangements for the conference, including what a U.S. spokesman called an "important concession." The North Vietnamese delegation quickly cold-shouldered both offers.

While the word "rejected" was not used and the North Vietnamese agreed to present the proposals to their ally, the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, a U.S. spokesman held out little hope of acceptance.

The "important concession" to which the spokesman referred involved speaking arrangements at the conference. The United States is willing to drop the idea of drawing lots for the order of speaking and permit the other side to arrange its speaking order in any way it chose, in the interest of getting the conference started.

This offer was coupled with another: That the delegations should gather around a table upon which the demarcation designating two sides would be narrowed to a simple line. This

Icy Road Causes Auto Accident, Area Girl Hurt

A Mt. Sterling area girl was injured in a one car accident Saturday evening when she lost control of her vehicle on an ice covered road.

Taken to London General Hospital for emergency treatment was Sandra Stires, 18, of Route 3, Mt. Sterling. She was complaining of injuries to her left leg, hand and head.

The Stires vehicle was westbound on County Road 500 at the Deer Creek Bridge about one mile northeast of Mt. Sterling at 7 p.m. when the accident occurred, according to the report by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley.

The driver stated that she could remember nothing of what happened during the accident, according to the sheriff's report.

DEPUTY Straley, in reconstructing the accident, stated that the car went out of control on the ice covered road and then went off the left berm. The car struck a guard rail, bounced back onto the road and continued on for 37 feet where it struck a tree and went over a steep bank backwards, coming to rest in a ravine.

No citations were issued by the sheriff's department.

was intended to meet the North Vietnamese objection to a previous proposal for a green baize strip across a round table as "too conspicuous."

The argument over the shape of the table involves the quarrel whether there are two or four sides in the conference. The United States and South Vietnam insist there are two; the adversaries say there are four. At stake is the status of the Liberation Front, which is claiming equality at the conference table with the South Vietnamese.

After a 15-minute recess to permit the North Vietnamese representatives to discuss the U.S. proposal, Ambassador Ha Van Lau returned and declared it unacceptable.

U. S. delegate Cyrus R. Vance then put forward an alternative proposal. This also was a package. Instead of meeting at a round table with a strip across it, it could be any shape table at all, with a line across it. The order of speaking once again could be by lots, with the winning side to speak first and the speaking order rotated thereafter.

Lau also rejected this. Vance urged the North Vietnamese to "think it over." But shortly after the meeting, the North Vietnamese issued a communique accusing the United States of "obstinacy" in attempting to present the conference as a two-sided affair.

The statement said there was "nothing new" in Vance's proposals, an indication that formal rejection of the initiative could be expected.

The American side had been clinging to a hope that the talks could be started before President Johnson leaves office Jan. 20. That hope now seems dimmer than ever.

Pork-Barrel Bills In Preparation By Ohio Solons

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Legislature, operating in the growing shadow of next year's political races, is expected to spend much of this week cranking out proposals to please the home folks.

As many as 200 bills were in preparation for the House hopper and in the Senate a deluge also was forecast.

Few if any would be backed by the Republican administration of Gov. James Rhodes. Most are doomed to quiet extinction in committee.

In the second week of the session, the Legislature likely will concentrate on organization.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Bowling Green, will announce the membership of 14 standing committees tonight. The following two days will be used extensively for solidifying internal assignments.

The jockeying will take place against a widening backdrop of political developments in 1970.

There are some reports that Rhodes is a possible nominee for U.S. Senate, maybe against former astronaut John Glenn in the Democratic fold.

And other speculation puts Kurfess in the arena for attorney general, with House Democratic Leader John McDonald as a potential Democratic opponent.

The serious legislation that eventually reaches the floor is apt to focus on education.

In this context, the Legislature expects in a few days a constitutional amendment to help local districts which lack financial backing from industry.

The sponsor could be Sen. Walter Powell, R-Fairfield, a Butler County principal, and it is likely to create some furor.

The plan would give the Legislature power to divide real estate tax bases into residential and industrial-commercial.

Local districts would be able to continue fixing residential tax levies while the Legislature set one rate everywhere for the other classification.

The districts would obtain the industry funds on the basis of their average pupil valuation. This apportionment would bolster districts which now receive little from industry and at the same time would slash the more prosperous recipients.

The proposal would try to resolve this problem by guaranteeing each district would get at least as much from industry as currently.

Figures of December fortified his outlook. The count was down to 217 in contrast to an average of 247 for December in the past three years.

Nelson said the reduction in highway deaths "is a tribute to the safety consciousness of Ohio motorists."

Fifteen persons died in traffic accidents across Ohio during the weekend, and a coroner at Columbus was to rule today on another death which may have caused a crash.

Floyd Nichol, 51, of Marysville, is believed to have suffered a fatal heart attack just before his milk truck knocked over two utility poles at Columbus Sunday.

Earlier in the day at Columbus, Ronald L. Clay, 23, was thrown from his car and killed after it struck two utility poles and a parked auto near his home.

Two students returning to Miami University died when their auto slammed into a tractor-trailer rig on Ohio 73 near Miami.

The victims were Guy R. Marinelli, 21, Parma, and David Keeler, 24, Harrison. They had spent the weekend in Dayton.

Another double fatality occurred outside Gallipolis when three cars collided on Ohio 7. The highway patrol said Gerald W. Green, Columbus, and a passenger in his car, Ernest Ballard, 43, Gallipolis, received fatal injuries in the pileup.

At Cleveland, a vehicle struck a utility pole, killing George Schaffer, 22, Brooklyn, Ohio.

Westfall Student Tops Ag Exam

Sherry Bilek, a senior at Westfall High School, placed in the top 25 students in the state who took the competitive agriculture examination last November.

Miss Bilek, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bilek, is a National Honor Society member at Westfall. She is also a member of the newspaper staff there.

Her score of 120 was fifth in the district, making her eligible to receive a four year scholarship.

Brenda Mills of Logan Elm ranked in the top 25 of the district in the test. She had a score of 110, which was second in the county.

ROUNDING out the top 10 students taking the examination are:

Woman Freed After 60-Day Prison Term

A Circleville woman serving a prison sentence at Marysville Reformatory for Woman was returned to Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Monday and released on probation.

Carol Rose, 22½ S. Court St., was sentenced to the reformatory Oct. 23, by Judge William Ammer on charges of forgery and issuing a check without an account. She received a sentence of 1-20 years on the first and 1-7 years on the second charge.

She was ordered returned to the court by Judge Ammer after she had served about 60 days of her term.

Reason for sentencing her to the reformatory was because Pickaway County does not have adequate facilities for housing women prisoners, according to Judge Ammer.

The Judge stated that he was placing the woman on probation in keeping with a recent Ohio law which permits the court to suspend a sentence after 30 to 60 days of the term have been served. This is the first time the local court has taken advantage of that law.

Steel Shipments To Be On Upside

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel men expect mill shipments to increase 10 per cent to about 21 million net tons of finished products the first quarter of 1969, Steel Magazine said today.

The metal-working management weekly said January shipments alone were expected to exceed 6.5 million tons, topping December levels by five to ten per cent.

Sandusky Back To Normal
After Gas Supply Restored

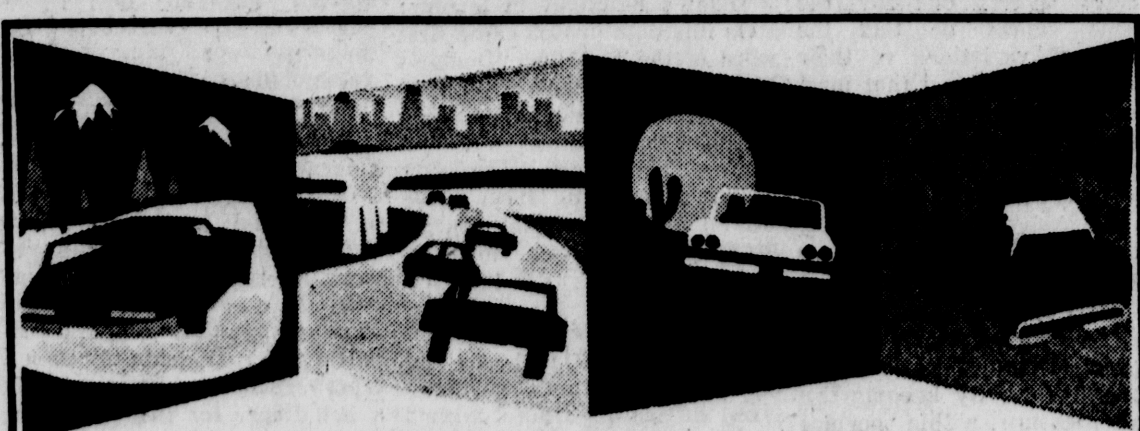

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — With nothing worse than memories of a chilly weekend, the people of Sandusky had their normal natural gas supply back in working order today. "All we had was gripes," said a police officer when questioned about ill effects of the gas shutoff over Saturday night with temperatures dipping into the teens. Surgeons at one hospital went ahead with three scheduled operations during the shutoff after workmen installed an emergency oil heater. Closest brush with tragedy came when a man set his bedroom afire trying to sleep with an electric iron wrapped in rags in the bed. Firemen said he was not hurt. Columbia Gas of Ohio crews made the rounds Sunday, re-lighting pilot lights of furnaces and appliances in this northern Ohio city of 36,000 and in a neighboring area where about 10,000 persons live. An explosion and fire in a substation knocked out the gas service Saturday. Cause of the explosion was not known. People turned to all sorts of emergency arrangements while the service was out. Many bought electric heaters and extra blankets at department stores that kept their doors open until all the stock was gone. Those with relatives nearby went visiting for the night. Others packed themselves into motels. The Red Cross opened a large shelter at a high school for people needing a warm place to sleep. The Red Cross also put out 300 electric heaters on loan.

Hope For Tax Changes

Taxes will be one of the prime concerns of the new Congress. Not only does the temporary 10 percent surtax require action if it is to be extended beyond June 30, as seems likely, but there is wide dissatisfaction among members of Congress over certain provisions of existing tax laws.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee — probably the most influential tax man in Congress — has promised an extensive look at some of these provisions.

Rep. Mills predicts his committee will consider the possibilities of extending the standard deduction for those who do not itemize deductions beyond the present 10 percent with a limit of $1,000. Raising the standard deduction to include incomes considerably above $10,000 would simplify returns for a large bloc of taxpayers.

Also to receive a review are the rules under which charitable foundations may qualify for tax exemption. Foundations have come under considerable fire in recent years because of the huge incomes they command and the ease with which they are at present able to qualify for tax exemption.

Rep. Mills also wants to review estate and gift taxes, with a view toward lowering existing tax rates and simplifying the law in this area. Other members of Congress, including Rep. George Goodling of Pennsylvania, have indicated a desire to boost the $600 exemption presently allowed, emphasizing that this is totally inadequate in this age and is a carryover from earlier days of the federal income tax laws.

If the 91st Congress has its ears tuned to the grass roots, it knows the public is becoming increasingly concerned over the accelerating tax burden it is asked to carry. This would be a good year to correct some of the inequities.

Prison Camp Terror

There is nothing particularly new in disclosures concerning the treatment of the Pueblo crewmen by their North Korean captors. The North Korean communists proved themselves uncivilized savages during the Korean War, and they haven't improved.

Many questions remain to be answered relative to the ease with which the North Koreans captured the ship and its valuable espionage equipment, but there is little evidence that the Pueblo's skipper and crew did not conduct themselves as well as could be expected under the inhuman conditions, imposed upon them.

Commander Bucher did sign several "confessions," but only after severe duress, including the threat to the captain that his men would be shot one by one if he did not comply. Was the military code of conduct really meant to be tested under such cruel circumstances?

How does one conduct himself before barbarians who care nothing for human life, let alone human decency? Who can really predict human endurance until put through an ordeal such as the 11 months of hell these men went through?

If guilt is to be found in the Pueblo incident, it lies in finding out why a virtually unarmed ship with such precious cargo was permitted to travel unescorted into a hostile area.

NEW YORK (AP) — What's a nice guy like Tony Curtis doing straying women, even if it is only a film.

Curtis chuckled when he was jokingly asked the question, then said seriously, "It's a wonder there isn't more of it."

He then went into a rather philosophical discussion of the socio-psychological background of the sexually-perverted killer who terrorized the Boston area.

You're Telling Me

Congress is talking about raising its pay to $50,000 a year. The members want to show they can take it as well as dish it out.

Is there any question in your mind whether your congressman is worth $50,000 a year? It's a taxing decision.

Most congressmen put in a lot of time at their jobs. You can't spend nearly a hundred billion a year just standing around.

A congressman is his own boss in carrying out his campaign promises.

Congressmen feel they are paid for what they know. Or what you don't.

By act of Congress we are more than three hundred billion dollars in debt. It's the only act that does encores without applause.

"MOONSHINE McKEON, whose corn likker was guaranteed to knock out the hardest West Virginian in three gulps, came charging into his cabin one day bristling with excitement. 'Maw! Maw! Dang-busted if I ain't learned to write!' 'What you learned to write, Paw?' asked his wife. 'Don't know, Maw,' admitted Moonshine. 'I ain't learned to read yet.'"

C. L. Sulzberger relays a fable for our time: Once upon a time a courtier condemned to death asked his Emperor for one final favor: "Before I die I'd like to be able to teach your favorite black horse to speak. I think I can do it in a year." Amused by the courtier's claim, the Emperor indulgently postponed the execution date. Back in prison, cell-mates prodded him, "Do you really believe you can teach that horse to speak?" The courtier replied, "These days, anything can happen in a single year. I might die a pleasant, peaceful death. The Emperor himself might die. Or, who knows, I might even get the horse to speak!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Plastic surgery for the repair of large, protruding ears is very gratifying to patients who submit to this operation. Sometimes parents are reluctant to have this kind of surgery performed on their children, passing it off with the loving phrase "you're pretty enough as is."

It is difficult for parents to appreciate the embarrassment of boys and girls who feel that their ears stick out too far, especially when they are teased by their friends because of their "elephant ears." Boys are particularly sensitive because they cannot hide their ears as readily as girls can with their hair. I forgot for a moment that this is not so in this day and age of longhaired boys.

Long ears are frequently noticed early in infancy and some parents try to fasten the ears back with tape only to find that this is impossible. The cartilage of the ear is resilient and bounces back immediately.

Plastic surgery of the ears is a safe procedure and can be done in most cases under local anesthesia. It is astonishing to witness the remarkable personality changes that occur in children who develop added security when they are free of the stigma of outstanding ears.

Excessive menstrual bleeding is not normal and should most certainly be studied for the exact cause. Too often, the unpleasant experience of bleeding is quickly forgotten until the next menstrual period comes on. It is wise to report unusual bleeding to the doctor and then to be sure that an examination takes place after the bleeding has subsided.

The cause may be a simple one and easily controlled with drugs and hormones. If infection is present, or if there is a fibroid tumor of the uterus to account for bleeding, they can be cured by medical treatment or surgery.

Painful menstruation or dysmenorrhea — or irregular menstruation — deserve complete pelvic examination. The newer knowledge on the balance between the hormone or endocrine-producing glands can, in most instances, remedy many of these distressing conditions.

Patients frequently ask their

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
As most of us know, when it comes time to buy 1969 automobile tags, an extra charge of $5.00 will be added which will go to the City of Circleville.

As most of us know, Council has passed a city income tax which is now in effect.

As many of us don't know, the federal government has levied a surcharge, a tax on tax, which it will exact for the year 1968.

Due to this additional tax on income, many who are thinking at the present that they will receive a rebate on their federal income tax, have a rude awakening coming their way. The jolt will be more severe when they find they owe Uncle Sam a few bucks.

With the senseless war in Vietnam costing the American people thirty billion dollars annually, Roundowners not excluded, plus additional spending at the local level for whatever City Council has cooked up for the future, it is this writer's opinion that the city income tax may be that final straw that will break the camel's back.

Southern Black Power

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
COLUMBIA, S.C. — One always keeps one's fingers crossed when making predictions about the future of race relations, crime in the streets, and turmoil on the campuses, but it begins to appear that it is the North, not the South, that is under the gun when it comes to facing the shocks of the "age of confrontation" as our social crisis moves into its later phases.

One reason for believing this is the South's discovery that, as a developing region, it can't afford to lose its manpower. Here in South Carolina, for example, there are more jobs opening up than there are people to fill them. This means that "black power" in industry must be cultivated as a reality, not as a dream — and it follows therefrom that more is being done here to make the Negro feel wanted as a producer than is being done in any of the big cities of the North.

One senses the drift in little things as well as in big. A couple of years ago the Bendix Corporation decided to open a plant on the outskirts of Columbia. Aside from supplying some of the machine tools and instructors necessary to train workers in the sort of precision work needed for aviation and space age components, it had no recruiting problems: an Elgin watchmaking plant had just closed down, leaving a number of people free to take new jobs. The point is that these people, black as well as white, had no desire to pull up roots; Bendix was fine for them. But just how fine it was they did not know until the training period had passed and the new Bendix plant went into operation.

One Negro woman, a mother of nine in her late forties, found the management extremely understanding when she asked for special hours that would allow her to go back to school to complete a high school education that she had started and dropped years before. Five of her children had already finished high school, but she bested the four youngest to a diploma, meanwhile earning money needed to support her big family. Incidentally, she persuaded a white woman co-worker, a dropout like herself, to go back and finish high school, too.

This is modern South Carolina as seen through one end of the telescope, a state that has discovered it must make allowance for black pride if it is to hold a needed black power. The other end of the telescope reveals an astounding overall industrial advance: 20,000 new jobs created in 1968, and this in a state that has about one-fourth the population of New York City.

What impresses a visitor from the North is the type of industry that the state is attracting: it is sophisticated, it demands rigorous skills, and it is forcing the state's twelve technical schools not only to upgrade an agricultural people and combat illiteracy but also to turn out a superior human product.

Seven years ago, the average capital investment per worker in South Carolina was $6,269. This year, as Governor Robert McNair will soon be telling the Legislature in his annual "State of the State" message, the figure has risen to an average investment of $32,148 per worker.

South Carolina is no longer dependent on textiles for maintaining payrolls; the chemical industry invested $327.5 million last year in twenty-one projects, creating 3,445 new jobs, and $126.3 million was poured into forty-eight metal-working ventures creating 7,160 jobs. Textiles came in third, with a $109.5 million investment adding 4,609 new workers to payrolls. The total capital investment for 1968 was $635,617,000 — or more than double the figure for 1967.

Governor McNair's commitment is to keep people from leaving the State, and to bring back the many South Carolina Negroes who have gone North in recent years. He has already reversed the migratory flow. This type of commitment, multiplied over the entire South, is the ultimate answer to the problem of the Northern ghettos, which cannot in the nature of things produce a satisfactory black capitalism.

JANUARY, 1934
35 YEARS AGO

A throng of 345 persons looked on at the impressive ceremony held when the 60-year old mortgage papers of Circleville's Masonic Lodge building were burned.

A new rural route schedule was in effect at the local post office following retirement from service of two veterans, William B. Watts and Edward Blum. Routes 1 and 2 were combined into Route 1; Routes 6 and 7 were made Route 2. No new men were employed to take the place of the retiring carriers.

January grand jury recommended that county commissioners order a garage erected between the power house and the court house for the use of the sheriff's automobiles.

Pickaway County's first emergency school was in session. The school was opened in Memorial Hall for children ages 4 and 5 whose families were no relief. Teachers Minnie Lyle and Martha Reid were responsible for transporting the students to and from school besides preparing a hot dinner for them at noon. 20 students were enrolled the first day.

The city treasury had a balance of nearly $14,000 from 1933, according to the report of Lillian Young, city auditor.

Charles Owens, E. Corwin St., formerly with Jeffries and Calville store announced plans to open the New American Hotel dining room. The room was being completely remodeled and redecorated.

Prominent Atlanta man, C. G.

Campbell, died at the age of 70. He formerly owned a large elevator and a store in the Perry Twp. village.

Ashville council took definite steps toward the construction of water works and sewage system when they engaged an engineering firm to draw plans and specifications for the two jobs.

The city board of education voted to erect two additional classrooms at Walnut St. school to relieve congested conditions. Cost of the project was for approximately $10,000.

For one night only on stage at the Grand Theater, Rotary Players presented "The Dollar Power" with Paul Brown as Toby Powers. The treat of the season also contained "plenty of vodvill" and the Rotary Quartette.

Ted Lewis was honored at a reception where he was presented with a silver plaque making him an honorary life member of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Eight persons applied for the position of manager of Pickaway County's state liquor store soon to be opened in the city.

Plans were made for the mammoth "Roosevelt Ball" to be held with proceeds to go into an endowment fund for the Warm Springs Foundation for infantile paralysis. Modern dancing was to be held at the Circleville Athletic Club and oldtime dancing was scheduled at Memorial Hall which also would have a card party in progress. Admission was set at 75 cents per person, the ticket to be good for dancing at both halls and card playing.

'Y' Youth, Family Events Scheduled

The Pickaway County YMCA will conduct recreational swims at the Chillicothe YMCA and the Y-Indian Guides are scheduled to see a Columbus Checker's Hockey game.

Tuesday, the Pickaway County Y-Indian Guides meet in Chillicothe at 6:45 p.m. for an hour of swimming. Other Indian Guide activities for the month include a hockey game trip 2 p.m. Jan. 26. Scheduled for Jan. 13 is a longhouse meeting of all tribe chiefs.

Gr-A club members from Atwater, Corwin St., South Court, High Street, Mound St., Nicholas Drive and Washington Township elementary schools will attend their second swim at the Chillicothe "Y". Boys are encouraged to bring their fathers and brothers as guests and to make reservations by calling the local YMCA.

On Feb. 11, the Pickaway County YMCA has scheduled a family recreational swim and tour at the Chillicothe YMCA. Reservations will be made by calling the local YMCA, and taken on a first come, first serve basis. Additional information will be made available at a later date.

STUDENT classes in guitar and baton twirling have been added to the YMCA Informal Education program. According to the announcement by the YMCA, other classes will be encouraged to call the "Y" for suggestions on future youth classes.

Starting Jan. 22 Mrs. Joy D. Rae will teach an eight week course in baton twirling for boys and girls ages 11 thru 15. In addition to baton twirling, the course will offer marching routines, and will improve coordination and muscle development. This eight hour course will begin 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 22.

Youth Guitar lessons will be given by Mr. Carl Hawks on Wednesdays from 6 to 7 p.m. Registration for both of these youth classes will continue through January 17. Informal Education Brochures will be sent on request.

Congressmen..

Capitol Hill, that of millionaire industrialist David Packard, to be under secretary of defense, comes before the Armed Services Committee Tuesday, as does that of his boss, Defense Secretary-designate Melvin Laird. Packard will testify in closed session where he is sure to be questioned about his plan to put his $300 million worth of stock in the Hewlett-Packard Co. — which does business with the Pentagon — into a trust, with income and capital gains marked for charity. The Senate in the past has required such millionaires as former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to sell their stock holdings, but Packard has refused, arguing that for him to dump such a large sum on the market would substantially depress its price and hurt other stockholders.

A budding opposition to confirmation of Packard received what amounts to a killing blow last week when Mansfield said he didn't think appointed officials should have to sell their holdings so long as members of Congress weren't required to do so. With Democrat Mansfield's support, Packard's appointment probably will encounter little opposition.

The appointment of J. Phil Campbell, Georgia's agricultural commissioner, to be under secretary of agriculture isn't scheduled to be considered by the Senate this week. Campbell, who testified in opposition to a 1967 Senate bill that eventually became a law extending federal meat standards to packing plants doing in-state business, now will be responsible for enforcing the law. Sunday Campbell denied a charge by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, that his appointment amounted to a victory for "the dirty meat people" over consumers. Campbell said, "That was a completely false thing spread by the news media. I said at the time that we were not opposed to it (the meat inspection law)." He added that he only opposed making inspection of packing plants a federal responsibility.

City police investigated five other accidents during the weekend. No one was injured in the other mishaps.

Bloomfield and Kocken-sperger were taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment.

Nurses' Aide Shot At Youngstown Home

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year-old nurses' aide was shot five times—wounded four times in the chest and once in the abdomen — at her home Sunday.

The woman, Mrs. Levoid W. Thomas, was hospitalized in critical condition.

A 52-year-old man was being held for questioning.

Police said Mrs. Thomas was shot shortly after returning home from duty at a Youngstown hospital.

Scranton Woman Better Next Day... Pain Of Piles Relieved

Treatment Promptly Relieves Pain, Itching In Most Cases

Scranton, Pa. Mrs. J. Stranieri, Jr. of this city writes: "When I had our son, I got hemorrhoids and how painful. My husband bought Preparation H for me. The next day, I was much better — just after using it once."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer finds prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced. There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

The following men were elected to the Board of Directors of The Adelphi National Bank at the annual meeting of the shareholders on Jan. 11: George E. Armstrong, Richard Clifton, Edgar DeLong, Don C. Patterson, David B. Pontious, Adam Schaaf, Roy D. Schooley, Theodore R. Saker and Theodore R. Simson.

The officers named are: George E. Armstrong, president and chairman of board; David B. Pontious, vice president; Roy D. Schooley, vice president; Theodore R. Saker, vice president; Robert L. DeLong, cashier; Fred Fetheroff, assistant cashier; Don C. Patterson, secretary; and Yvonne Drake, bookkeeper.

Herbert Leshar with 21 years and Edson Shaw with eight years as members of the Board of Directors were elected Directors Emeritus.

Police Nab Sardinian Bandit Chief

ROME (AP)—Police chalked up one more victory in the hunt for Sardinian bandits when agents sprang a girl-baited trap in a Rome bar.

Police from Cagliari, Sardinia, and Rome seized Gesuino Casula, 29, in a bar near the University of Rome Sunday evening.

He offered no resistance, police said, but they reported taking a knife from his pocket.

Casula's capture came after female police agents put under surveillance the apartment of his Roman girl friend and the bar which she manages. They kept track of Casula's comings and goings until male police caught him off guard.

The girl friend, Nunzia Speculatore, also was arrested and charged with aiding and abetting Casula.

Police say they think Casula was linked to the kidnaping of industrialist Luigi Moralls, seized by bandits in Sardinia last March 15 and released 32 days later. Casula, one police conjecture went, may have been assigned by bandit chiefs to collect ransom on the mainland from families of kidnap victims.

Reanimation Said Wave Of Future

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Reanimation, the bringing back to life of someone who under present criteria might be presumed dead, has a big future in medicine, says a Soviet expert. V. A. Negovsky, director of the Moscow Academy of Sciences' Reanimation Institute, said in an interview Sunday, "The struggle against death is an old aspiration among men, particularly the Russians." The Soviet scientist, here to attend the World Congress on Death and Reanimation, said the study of reanimation has hurdled many obstacles.

Newlyweds Get Advice From Old-Timers

By MARY SCHURZ
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Close your eyes a little." That's the secret of a successful marriage according to one couple who ought to know—they've been wed for half a century.

Sen. Harris May Become Demo Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selection of Fred Harris as Democratic national chairman—a prospect enhanced by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's weekend endorsement—would provide a broader national stage for an Oklahoma senator with star quality.

The folksy, good-looking Harris, who parts his dark hair down the middle, is a solid member of the Senate Establishment while maintaining firm ties among liberals. He already has stirred talk as a possible "sleeper" candidate for the 1972 presidential nomination.

Humphrey made official Saturday his suspected preference for Harris to succeed Lawrence F. O'Brien when the Democratic National Committee meets Tuesday. As titular head of the party, Humphrey's choice is almost certain to be accepted.

"I hope he will have your support," the vice president told the committee in a telegram.

"I appreciate the vice president's recommendation," said Harris in a statement. "I am grateful for the enthusiastic support of the national committee members and prominent Democrats from throughout the country."

While the 38-year-old senator, who worked his way from a farm boy to a Phi Beta Kappa key, indicated he had not made a final decision, one of his aides left little doubt that he would accept. "Chances are good that he is not going to say no if the committee wants him," the aide said.

Sen. Jackson And Lindbergh Receive Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh and U. S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., will share the 1968 Bernard M. Baruch Conservation Prize.

The $2,000 award is from the Belle W. Baruch Foundation. The winners were announced Sunday.

Jackson was cited for his work as chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Lindbergh was selected for his activities with the World Wildlife Fund and the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources.

The League of Women Voters received a special award for its campaign for action on population.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

It's also good advice for a number of young persons—including the daughter of comedian Bob Hope—who were married this weekend.

The experts were Mr. and Mrs. James J. Gibney of New York who were among 333 couples, all of whom married in 1919, at a mass celebration Sunday at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

After repeating the vows they first exchanged 50 years ago, the Gibneys, who have four children, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild, shared some of their marital philosophy.

"You can't have your own way. One has to give in," said Mrs. Gibney when asked what she has learned in 50 years.

"Keep out of her way while she's doing the housework," said Gibney in reply to the same question.

"That means," said Mrs. Gibney, "he doesn't help."

"And," said Gibney, "I have learned to get home for meals on time. She gets very mad if I'm late."

New York wasn't the only place for remembering past romance.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Vaught of Bedford, Ind., observed their golden wedding anniversary Saturday by taking the elevator to the top of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument in midtown Indianapolis — the spot where they were married.

On Jan. 11, 1919, Vaught, a World War I veteran, was still wearing his Marine uniform and the minister who married the young couple said there wasn't a better place for a man in uniform to wed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Graves Pate of Nashville, Tenn., marked their anniversary with a train trip. For their honeymoon 50 years ago, they went to New Orleans and San Diego by rail.

This year, they did the same thing.

This was a weekend also for young love as several well-known persons were married Saturday or announced engagements.

Chris Noel, the leggy disk jockey who visited Vietnam as the U. S. answer to Hanoi Han-na, married Capt. Ty Herring-ton, a Green Beret officer who proposed in a helicopter. Chris, who has a twice-weekly show on Armed Forces Radio, is known in Vietnam for her miniskirt. But she wore a long white gown for her wedding in Palm Beach, Fla.

Another Vietnam "veteran" figured prominently in a wedding — as the father of the bride. Comedian Bob Hope, who has entertained the troops overseas for many years, escorted his daughter Linda, 28, down the aisle in North Hollywood as she was married to Nathaniel G. Lande, 34, a movie director.

'Trends In Drama,' Topic For Monday Club Meeting

Mrs. Kenneth Robbins presented a paper "Trends in Drama" for the Monday meeting of The Monday Club, held in the Lutheran Parish House.

Two thousand years are approximately 57 generations of people in the history of mankind. Yet this is the period of time between the Greek tragedies of the Greek civilization and the Elizabethan Age of England, which produced the great William Shakespeare.

The next period of greatness in the theater did not take so long, however, for George Bernard Shaw was born in 1856 and died in 1950. Since the death of Shaw and the late Eugene O'Neill, there has been a dearth of talented playwrights and the theater has suffered accordingly, both in England and America. In fact, for the theater season of 1967-1968 the Pulitzer committee saw fit not to award any prize for any American drama of that season, and the critics did not see fit to quarrel with the committee's decision.

To the average theater patron of the city of Circleville, the proscenium style of theater is the one he is most familiar with, for example, the Hartman Theater, Veterans' Memorial Auditorium, and the Circleville High School auditorium.

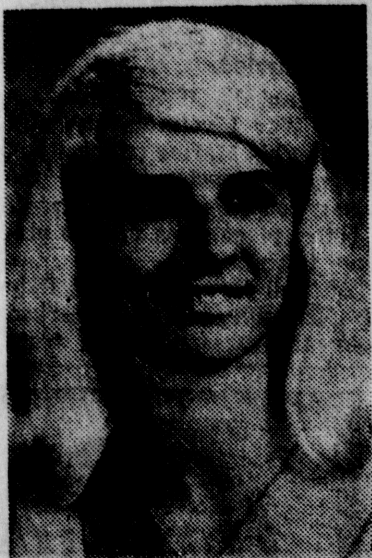

Two circular theaters in this area are the summer theaters at the Ohio State University Stadium and the Playhouse-on-the-Green. The circular theater is convenient to the patrons, adaptable to space, economic for arrangement, and more intimate for the actors and audience. The audience is sitting above the actors and is looking down on them rather than up to them as in the proscenium theater.

According to the New York drama critics, the day of the drama is about over. However, last season there were 74 off-Broadway productions, and this season there are 86.

It is true that a look at Broadway alone will give the impression that the theater, as a meaningful form of teaching the lessons of life, is about to become a thing of the past. Its plays are almost invariably of the musical comedy type, and most of the persons in the audience are from out-of-town rather than from New York City. They are there mainly because of the alleged social status that attending a Broadway theater is supposed to create.

The American theater is expanding geographically. The re-opened Hartman Theater in Columbus has been able to operate for the past several years. If an apt criticism were to be made of the Hartman Theater enterprise of the Kenley Players productions, it would probably be that the plays produced are merely New York road companies producing the commercial Broadway plays of New York. The meaningful serious plays are being produced not at the two places just mentioned but at such places as the Ohio State University, the Ohio State University Summer Stadium

Couple Selects February For Wedding

SHERRY LYNN BROWN

The date of Feb. 14 has been selected for the wedding of Miss Sherry Lynn Brown and Ted R. Herron.

The engagement is being announced by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Brown of Hallsville. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Herron, 457 Watt St.

Miss Brown is a graduate of Zane Trace High School and National Institutes of America in Chillicothe.

Mr. Herron graduated from Circleville High School and is employed at Lincoln Plastics Co. in Circleville.

The marriage will take place at the Hallsville Community United Methodist Church.

mind is anything but a thing of beauty.

Do the modern playwrights teach a meaningful or purposeful intent in regard to life, or do they merely cater to the pornographic instincts of man? Many people will say that the play "The Homecoming," for example, is merely popular because it caters to the erotic nature of man. Other people, however, will say that the play has a meaningful purpose, in that to bring this subconscious to the surface and air it out, so to speak, will cause the individual to rid himself of his guilt complexes and thus make a better person out of him, and through him and all the other persons thus affected, make a better world in which to live.

Who knows, the latter thinking may be right, for did not the adulteress whose secret was known in Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter" suffer less than the adulterer whose secret was unknown.

'Now Prophets' Program For Circle 4 Meet

Mrs. R. E. Nau was hostess for the recent meeting of Circle 4 of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church. Circle leader Mrs. Leroy Thomas opened with prayer and conducted the business session.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood, program leader, introduced the booklet "The Now Prophet." She said that now prophets not only speak but are known by their living as well. As we are a new society at the beginning of a new year with new materials, we can experience victory in our lives. Not only must we allow God to go with us but we must go with God. The church must penetrate the jungles of our inner cities. We must have men and women laboring with their hands as well as discussing theology in today's world. We must put our lives on the line as well as dropping money in the offering plate. Examples of individuals who are doing this was given by Mrs. Frank Hawks, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Montford Kirkwood Jr.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

The February meeting of the circle will be in the home of Mrs. Thomas with Mrs. Kenneth Crabtree as program leader.

City Income Tax Studied In Question - Answer Form

J. Emerson Davis, income tax consultant for Circleville, has prepared the following questions and answers relating to the city's new tax which became effective Jan. 1, 1969.

Q. When does withholding start for hourly employees?
A. At the beginning of the first full pay period beginning after January 1, 1969.

Q. When does withholding start for salaried employees?
A. As of January 1, 1969.

Q. Explain "Split-Payrolls."
A. In the case of hourly employees, where a pay period begins in December, 1968 and ends after January 1, 1969, such a pay period is a "split-payroll," and is not taxable under the city tax Ordinance.

Q. The employer will start deducting the city tax on the first full payroll earned after January 1, 1969.
A. No.

Q. Who must withhold?
A. Every business, employing one or more persons, having a business located in Circleville.

Q. Is an employer required to file withholding returns, resembling Federal Withholding Form W-2 as of December 31, 1969, or at any other date?
A. No.

Q. Are individuals who live in Circleville, but who work outside of Circleville in a community that does not have a City Income Tax, subject to Circleville Income Tax?
A. Yes, these individuals will pay the tax directly to the Circleville Income Tax Department.

Q. A person lives in Circleville, but works in another city which has a City Income Tax, where is he taxed?
A. He is taxable in the city where he is employed, if that city has a City Income Tax.

Q. Does the Circleville Income Tax apply to the net profits earned in Circleville by Corporations, Partnerships, Proprietorships, Professional Men, etc. having a place of business in Circleville?
A. Yes.

Q. What is the city tax rate?
A. One half of one per cent.

Q. Is vacation pay paid in 1969 subject to deductions under Circleville Income Tax?
A. No.

Q. When is the tax withheld by employers payable to Circleville?
A. Quarterly — same as Federal Withholding Tax; i.e., payment dates April, July, October and January. Every employer will receive a reporting form quarterly from the city tax department, which form must be returned to the city tax department within 30 days, together with check for city tax withheld.

Q. An individual who works on a commission basis, on what income is he taxable?
A. He is taxable on adjusted gross income, the same figure he uses subject to taxation on his Federal Income Tax Return.

Q. On what is the individual taxed?
A. On gross wages received from an employer.

Q. Are Retirement Pensions taxable?
A. Income received from Retirement Pensions, Social Security, Unemployment Compensation, disability payments, etc., are not taxable.

Q. When are individual and Corporation Declaration of Estimated Income Due?
A. The Declaration tax form must be filed on or before April 15, 1969, and at least one-quarter of the estimated tax must be paid at the time of filing said Declaration. A Declaration tax form will be mailed to all taxpayers at the proper time.

Q. What is the Status of a person who lives outside the corporation limits and works for a concern located outside of Circleville, but who works within Circleville part of the week?
A. The person is taxable for the time he works in Circleville. If he works two days a week in Circleville, he is taxable on two-fifths of his gross earnings — if he works three days a week within Circleville, he is taxable on three-fifths of his gross earnings.

Q. Are dividends and interest received taxable?
A. No.

Q. Are capital gains taxable?
A. No.

Q. Is an employer required to withhold on domestic servants?
A. No. The employer submits to the Tax Department the name and home address of the Domestic and the Tax Department will collect the city tax directly from the Domestic.

Q. When is a Fiscal Year recognized as such?
A. A Fiscal Year is recognized only if it has been recognized as such by the Director of Internal Revenue for Federal Taxation.

Q. Are Circleville City Income taxes deductible for Federal Income tax purposes?
A. Yes.

Q. What taxes are deductible to arrive at Business Net Profits?
A. Same as allowed for Federal Tax purposes.

Q. May a taxpayer get an extension of time in which to file his city tax return?
A. Yes.

Q. If a taxpayer does not receive tax forms from the Tax Department, is he liable for penalties and interest for failure to file?
A. Yes. The failure of any employer or taxpayer to receive tax forms, and failure to file a return, makes them liable for the tax, plus penalties and interest.

Q. Is it necessary for an employee, whose only income is wages on which the tax is withheld by his employer, to file a Tax Return at the close of the year?
A. No. Said employee does not have to file any tax return, either Declaration or Final Tax Return at the close of the year.

Q. In regard to Rental Income — is the tax figured on gross rental received?
A. No. The person is taxed on NET INCOME RECEIVED, after allowing for depreciation, Real Estate taxes, Insurance, repairs, maintenance, etc. In other words, the tax is figured on the same net income on the property as is reported for Federal Income Tax.

Q. Is all net rental income subject to City Income Tax?
A. No. If the total monthly gross rental income does not amount to $100.00 per month or more, the net rental income received is not subject to City Income Tax. In other words, for the net income from rentals to be subject to City Income Tax, the total gross monthly rental income must exceed $100.00 per month. $100.00 a month or more in gross monthly rentals is the point at which it is determined that the rental operations comes within the classification of operating a business.

Q. My husband is in the U.S. Army. Will we have to pay City tax on his income?
A. No. All funds received because of service in the Armed Forces are exempt from city income tax. This applies to the money earned by the person rendering the service as well as any funds received (by wife or family) as a result of another person rendering such service.

NEW YORK (AP) — Truth beats fiction every time, so maybe the New York Jets should be nominated for the best drama of the television year, and Joe Namath put up as an Emmy candidate for best performance in a single drama.

The 16-7 victory of the football team in Miami Sunday afternoon was, for millions of viewers, a show that made the latest exploit of "Mission: Impossible" seem anticlimatic.

NBC, handling the camera work in the game between the Baltimore Colts and the Jets, turned in a solid, workmanlike job as did commentators Curt Gowdy, Kyle Rote and Al DeRogatis. But the stars were the players. From the first touchdown by the underdog Jets through the final push by the Colts, the Super-bowl was exciting television.

The weekend in TV terms, was almost routine except for the football game.

"The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour," on CBS, started out on a low note — dismal Nixon jokes — but picked up steam when a number of the brothers' writing staff appeared to perform their own material.

There was a fresh quality about the young talent, if not all the material.

"Mission: Impossible," the real one, had one of its patent, neat, complicated plots. It combined the wildly improbable with electronic gimmicks and near disaster to provide a mildly amusing hour.

Ed Sullivan presented a clutch of acts from Las Vegas, entertaining enough, but the thing that occasioned more living room comment than even Don Rickles' insult monologue was the sight of our host with sideburns longer than those on some of his singing acts.

The program that annually pulls one of the largest audiences, "The Bob Hope Christmas Special," comes along Thursday night. As usual the program, composed of bits and pieces from the holiday entertainment tour of Vietnam by Hope and Company, will run for 90 minutes—8:30-10 EST—on NBC.

ABC will pre-empt all of its regular programs tonight for a series of special programs. They will start at 7:30 EST with another chapter from "Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" — a story about a pair of young seals—then move on at 8:30 to a short documentary about adoption. After "To Love a Child," a special program at 9 will be built around the exploits of French ski champion, Jean-Claude Killy, followed at 10 by "Cosmopolis," a documentary on urban blight.

Four schools have received permits to sell beer, he said, and five others have applied.

Cook said that beer sales on campus would cut down student travel to bars in nearby towns, reducing the possibility of accidents, friction with townspeople and illegal sales to minors.

Schools with permits are Ohio State, University of Dayton, Oberlin and Kenyon. Applications are pending for Cleveland State, Akron State, College of Steubenville, Ohio University and Kent State.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Everyone Deserves Understanding

DEAR ABBY: You may be unable to help me, but perhaps you can offer an opinion.

How does a decent, deeply religious widow overcome her desires to be kissed and be loved?

After being married 44 years with only one man in her life, widowed a year, not exactly ancient (62), one lives only with memories, constantly revived by TV and books, all ending in sex, and while pleasant to review, they bring to life desires that are difficult to suppress.

Having once had pure gold, I could not replace it with brass. No man however good could ever take the place of the one I lost, yet isn't it evil to harbor desires such as mine?

This writer feels ashamed and unclean, and she is miserable beyond words. Please try to help me.

ALONE
DEAR ALONE: You have no cause to feel "ashamed" or "unclean" because your natural desires remain undiminished as a widow of 62. Instead of trying to "overcome" your desires to be loved, look for someone who is in the same boat—to whom YOU can give love. And don't be so quick to evaluate the "metal." You need an ALLY, not an ALLOY.

DEAR ABBY: My twin sister and I have the same problem. About a month ago our whole family was involved in an automobile accident. There were no serious injuries but our parents were scared out of their wits and gave us strict orders that we were not to ride in cars.

We both have steady boy friends and this rule is causing problems. Our boy friends are good, careful drivers and had nothing to do with this accident. Is this fair?

Help!

DEAR "18": No, but time will solve your problem. I predict that in due time the memory of the accident will fade, and so will the "rule."

DEAR ABBY: If you should get a letter saying, "Dear Abby my husband and I are not able to communicate because he never tells me anything," it will be from my wife. But before you answer it, let me fill you in on a few facts:

She's tight. I don't tell her anything anymore because every time I open my mouth to say something, she butts in, finishes it, and tells me where I'm wrong.

You see, she reads two newspapers every day and has her television on from morning until night, which makes her an "authority" on positively everything, altho she contradicts herself and invariably gets her facts all mixed up.

I am a responsible man, and my job requires that I keep abreast of all the local, national and international news, so it's not like I was down in a pit all day completely oblivious to what's going on. So now I just say good morning and good night. Sign me—

"NOT TALKING"

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANYONE FOR WHOM IT IS NOT YET TOO LATE: Don't make the mistake so many parents (who can afford it) make — giving their children expensive gifts instead of time, and thoughtful guidance. The only real security children will ever have in this life will come from whatever ability they develop to get along with each other and to make their own way, not from material things.

Joe Namath Really On Top After Startling Jet Victory

MIAMI (AP) — Joe Namath had just led his New York Jets to a stunning 16-7 victory over the Baltimore Colts. He obviously was elated.

He also was thirsty, dirty, tired—and bitter.

"Are you one of those NFL writers?" he asked each reporter who approached him in the Jets dressing room. "Well, listen," he would say with a scowl, "AFL is here to stay and you'd better believe it. I guarantee."

Stripped to his football pants and socks, Namath slouched on a bench and the well wishers and writers strained to get near him. It was at least 100 degrees in the crowded Jets dressing room and he was soaked with perspiration. His long black mane hung down in damp ringlets.

"Nobody believed we would win," he kept saying. "Nobody but the New York fans gave us a chance. Where were you guys?"

At least 50 reporters were ringed around him scribbling down every word. "Hey, somebody get me another Pepsi," he yelled. As if by magic, a full cup was pressed into his hands and four others were set down beside him.

"Hey brother, watch it," he said to a photographer whose foot was dangerously close to the soft drink supply.

"I want everybody to take notice," he said. "There's no champagne in the dressing room of the new world champions."

After about 20 minutes of questions and congratulations, a little man wearing a Super Bowl straw hat pushed through and tapped Joe on the arm, almost timidly.

"Hey, Dad," he yelled "where'd you get that hat?" Then they hugged each other.

"What are you shaking about?" John Namath asked his famous son.

"I'm a little weak right now Dad," was the reply.

Joe's mother was not at the game. "She never comes," he said. "Her nerves won't stand it, she swells up like a balloon."

After an hour, Joe made his way to the training table and began cutting away the tape on his feet and knees. The purple scars on his knees stood out in contrast against the white flesh.

They were the only signs of wear on the 25-year-old former Alabama star who made football history when he signed a $400,000 contract with the Jets four years ago.

"Do you feel sorry for Morrell?" he was asked.

"Better him than me," replied Joe. "Do you think anyone would be crying for me now if the Colts had won? Hah!"

Joe turned and tossed a wad of tape at a Jets trainer. It missed by a foot. "Excuse me," he said, "I overthrew."

Sherman Gets Senior Bowl Game Ball

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Players on the North squad voted to give the game ball to their coach after their 27-16 victory over the South in the annual Senior Bowl game — something an all-star team seldom does.

Coach Allie Sherman of the New York Giants, who coached the Yankees to their victory Saturday, said, "I am touched by the gesture and consider this week one of the biggest thrills of my football life."

More than 42,000 fans watched Bob Campbell of Penn State repeatedly tear through the South line. He was voted the outstanding back.

But it was Ken Juskowich of West Virginia who turned the tide for the North.

The South was leading 16-14 in the third period, but Juskowich's 37-yard field goal — longest ever in the Senior Bowl — put the North ahead.

Moments later, Ron Prichard of Arizona State recovered a South fumble two yards out and Campbell plunged over for the decisive touchdown.

Juskowich later kicked a 20-yard goal to clinch the victory.

Charlie Winner of the St. Louis Cardinals, who coached the South, said the South lost two fumbles which led to touchdowns that spelled the difference.

Each player on the winning team receives $1,000, while each losing player receives $750.

Charlie Sifford Wins LA Open Golf Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charlie Sifford is the winner of the 43rd annual $100,000 Los Angeles open golf Tournament, and officially, he won it Sunday in a one-hole sudden death playoff with Harold Henning of South Africa.

In a sense, however, 45-year-old Charlie, the first Negro to make it in professional golf, won the $20,000 in the final nine holes of the first round last Thursday.

His rounds for the 72 holes were 63-71-71-71—276 for the part 36-71 Rancho Park Golf course.

What Charlie did was shoot a fantastic 28 on the back nine Thursday, seven under par which he achieved in only six holes.

What Charlie did after that was tame par by only one stroke for the ensuing 63 holes, not counting the birdie putt in the extra hole playoff that sewed it up.

Par golf after that 28 eruption proved good enough to repulse the enemy.

Henning, a gracious loser, had rounds of 74-68-66-68-276, and said, "I'm happy to get a tie."

Henning won $11,000. In the closing moments of the drama it was all Sifford and the 35-year-old Henning, whose lone American victory was in the Texas open in 1966.

Defending champion Billy Casper made a run with a 76. So did Australia's Bruce Devlin.

U. S. Open champion Lee Trevino had fun with the galleries. But his 74 gave him 293 and $133.33 in the new PGA format which guarantees every finisher at least something.

In Sifford's case, it seems he and the absent Julius Boros kid each other over which is the older. Boros actually is 48.

But it was Boros, Sifford revealed, who corrected Sifford's famous hook by readjusting his grip on the club. The advice came last year when Boros and Sifford played in an exhibition.

"We old men," said Charlie, "try to help each other."

TROUBLE PLAY—Luis Aparicio, the dandy little shortstop of the Chicago White Sox, came up with a trouble play, instead of a double-play, when he cut a finger while putting up a picture in his Venezuelan home. He flew to Chicago for surgery on a nerve and that's where he is shown.

Ohio Cage Teams Mark Up Wins Over Out-Of-Staters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's major college basketball teams feasted Saturday night on out-of-state opposition.

Ohio State, Dayton and Cincinnati marked up victories while Xavier was the only loser.

Ohio State won its second Big Ten victory by capitalizing on free throws to drub Wisconsin 84-69. The Badgers outscored the Bucks from the field 30-27 but Ohio State connected on 30 of 43 free throw attempts.

Cincinnati, coming off two straight Missouri Valley Conference defeats, had a comparatively easy time beating Louisville 87-75. The Bearcats had only a 29-24 lead at the half but at one time in the final period they had a 23-point lead.

Dayton had a tougher time but edged Detroit 64-62 while Xavier dropped an 83-69 decision to Marquette.

Two teams previously undefeated in Mid-American Conference competition went down to defeat.

A 35-foot field goal by Jim Conally in the final second gave Bowling Green a 75-74 victory over Ohio University. Ohio U. had won its only previous conference start.

Toledo, which had won two games in the conference, fell 77-73 before Miami, which now has a 2-0 league record. Miami had a 44-3 halftime lead but the Rockets almost pulled the game out of the fire by outscoring the Redskins 42-3 in the final 20 minutes.

Ohio Wesleyan, Denison, Marietta and Capital were winners in Ohio Conference competition.

Charley Claggett scored 32 points as Denison beat Mt. Union 74-67. Dave Eyrich scored 42 points for Ohio Wesleyan but his team lost to Wooster, 76-74. Capital won its fourth game in six starts by beating Oberlin 67-52. Marietta breezed past Hiram, 104-70. Marietta had only a 40-36 lead near the end of the first half but then went on a 10-point scoring spree to win easily.

Bluffton and Defiance were the winners in Mid-Ohio Conference play.

Dan Laut's field goal in the closing seconds gave Bluffton an 86-85 triumph over Malone and Defiance squeezed past Wilmington 89-82.

Allegheny won its second straight game in the President's Athletic Conference by beating Adelbert, 75-62, but Bethany's hopes for a title in that loop were hurt by a 78-75 loss to Case.

In a low-scoring battle, Ashland won its 12th game in 13 starts by beating Cleveland State 33-28.

Injunction Halts Cincy Walkout

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's threatened strike of 1,800 non-uniformed city workers has been delayed for 48 hours.

The municipal employees had been scheduled to walk out at midnight Sunday in a salary dispute but an announcement of the delay came about five hours before the midnight deadline.

The decision to delay the start of the strike followed issuance of a temporary injunction Saturday night by Hamilton Common Pleas Court Judge Ralph B. Kohnen to prevent the walk-out.
